Division IV Boys Basketball Preview

By Jose Garcia
AIA365

Scottsdale Prep is as balanced — scoring wise — as any team in the postseason.

Arizona Lutheran has a potent inside-out combination and the experience of reaching last year's final.

It could turn into an interesting matchup if the two meet in the D-IV state boys basketball final this season. The two teams have certainly played like the top teams in Division IV boys basketball this season.

That's why it wasn't a surprise when they were awarded the top two seeds in the D-IV state tournament. But Scottsdale Prep and Arizona Lutheran haven't really dominated some of their divisional foes this season, so don't pencil them in as state finalists just yet.

Scottsdale Prep (25-2) hasn't lost to a D-IV or a D-II, III and IV team since dropping its state semifinal game last year against Arizona Lutheran. Scottsdale Prep carries seven players who are each scoring seven points or more per game, including captains Matt Munsil, Nick Smith and Ben Arqueros.

Sophomore Yuval Yacoby (6-8) also is scoring in double figures and is blocking 2.4 shots per game. For No. 2 seed Arizona Lutheran (21-5), it is lead by guard Kris Lamberson (17.6 points per game, 53% field goal) and post player Brady Cook (63% FG, 46 blocks.).

"The team has really improved defensively, and we are playing better because everyone understands their roles," Arizona Lutheran coach Doug Meyer said.

Here's a look at some of the talent that also will compete in the D-IV state tournament:

Veritas Prep: The No. 8 seed (20-7) was shooting 52 percent and finished the season 13-3 in its final 16 games before the state tournament.

Grand Canyon: It lost by 14 to El Capitan in the second game of the year, but only lost by three during their last meeting, when Grand Canyon's 15-game win streak was snapped. Grand Canyon, the No. 9 seed (21-8), starts one of the top players in D-IV, Joey Bankston (22.5 ppg, 12.5 rpg). Bankston already broke the school's record for rebounds and blocks in a season. Justin Jarrell (8.6 ppg, 4.6 rpg, 4.9 apg) broke the season assist school record this season.

St. Gregory: The No. 5 seed is 23-6. Senior guard Benny Louchheim (18.3 ppg) and sophomore guard Cameron Hodge (11 ppg) are the team's leading scorers.

Desert Christian: The turning point for the relatively young team came when it lost close games to D-II Cholla and D-IV Arizona Lutheran. "(That's when) we realized we could really play with anyone," coach Iram Alday said. Zach Malis is leading the team with 15 points per game, and five other players are each averaging between 5-9 points a game.

El Capitan: It has reached the postseason in three of the past four seasons under coach Aaron La Corti. The No. 3 seed is 17-5.

St. Johns: The No. 6 seed is 24-7. Senior Kyle James (6-5) is shooting 70 percent from the field while averaging a team-high 18 points per game. Teammate Dayton Waite is averaging 17.7 points per game.

Joy Christian: The defending state champ earned the No. 7 seed with a 18-9 overall record. The team has been inconsistent partly because of the some injuries, but defensively it is as good as any team Scott Brown has coached, he said. Joy Christian's go-to player, Josiah Stefanski (20.9 points per game), scored 47 points during a 83-73 victory over Veritas Prep on Feb. 12.

Division IV Girls Basketball Preview

By Jose Garcia
AIA365

Different season. Different team.

But what hasn't changed for Salt River is that it's once again one of the favorites in the Division III state title girls basketball race. Last year's state championship team had more depth, but this season's squad is likely more united.

The togetherness helped Salt River manage the loss of two key players the team lost during the Christmas break.

"We don't really have anybody who stands out that much," coach Shawn Lytle said. "We tasted the title last year and want to come out and get another one."

It lost two players, but Salt River also gained an all-around talent in Tuba City senior transfer Ashley Lomavaya, who leads the team in points (16.1) assists (5.3) and steals (4.5).

Homegrown player Joy Manuel also calls Salt River home. The four-year varsity player is one of the unsung heroes of the 28-3 team.

With an 7.3 average per game, Manuel leads her team in rebounding. Salt River is the No. 3 seed in the state tournament and lost its only D-IV game to No. 4 seed Gilbert Christian.

Below is a look at some of the top teams in the tournament.

Valley Union: The 26-6 team received the No. 1 seed and is lead by Kortney Haines (13 points, 7 rebounds, 3 assists, 3 steals per game), Yesenia Gamez (10 points, 5 steals per game), Jasmine Guadarrama (10 points per game). "We have a great group of girls who are pretty tight knit," coach Bart Haines said.

Valley: The No. 5 seed is 17-6. Four-year letterman Rolanda Mitchell (15 points, 5 assists per game), Tamara Nez (18 points, 6 steals per game), and sophomore Latisha Nastacio (12 points per game) are the team's stat leaders. Valley is averaging 63.6 points per game.

Gilbert Christian: The No. 4 seed (25-5) lost 4-year point guard Colleen Young to an injury, but freshman guard Lauryn Satterwhit (15 points, 5 rebounds per game) has stepped up. Sophomore Cassidy Curtner has made 32 3-pointers, and Meg van Rijn leads the team with 28 blocks.

Fort Thomas: Shania Dona and Klara Goseyun are averaging a combined 28.4 points per game for the No. 6 seed (18-13).

St. Gregory: The "bookend" team with six seniors and five freshmen is 25-4-1 and earned the No. 2 seed. Senior Grace Baranowski is averaging 19.7 points and 7.7 rebounds per game.

Tempe Prep: Camille Zimmerman is likely the top player participating in the D-IV tournament. Besides averaging 25 points and 13 rebounds per game, Zimmerman also is shooting 86 percent from the free throw line for Tempe Prep (No. 12 seed, 17-12 overall record). "I know everyone has counted us out, but they shouldn't," coach Nancy Calahan said. "We are a program that has something to prove: That we aren't just a one hit wonder."

Desert Christian: The No. 10 seed lost its point guard to a concussion, battled through other injuries and illnesses and players some players opting not play but still finished with the No. 10 seed.

Division III Boys Basketball Preview

By Jose Garcia
AIA365

Defending state champ Gilbert Christian moved up a division, but Valley Christian stayed put.

But that doesn't mean that Valley Christian, the state runner-up last season in Division III boys, is the obvious favorite when this year's state tournament begins. Oh, it's in the state contender conversation, but so are teams such as Cortez and Chinle.

However, Valley Christian coach Greg Haagsma isn't sure what to expect from his team.

"We have to be the hardest team in D-III to figure out," Haagsma said. "We play very well on some nights and poorly on others."

For proof, Haagsma pointed to the high and low points Valley Christian experienced in back-to-back games in January.

On Jan. 24, Valley Christian beat Scottsdale Christian, the No. 7 seed in the D-III state tournament, by 13 points. But on the following night, Haagsma's squad lost to non-state qualifier Pusch Ridge Christian by 11.

"Go figure," Haagsma said.

Still, Valley Christian (20-8) wound up with the No. 2 state seed because of its tough schedule.

The team has two go-to players, T.J. Widner and Brandon Haagsma, Haagsma's son. Brandon is a senior who along with Widner are each averaging 15 points per game.

Brandon also is shooting 50 percent from 3-point territory. Widner, the school's football star, is a tough matchup in the post, averaging eight rebounds per game.

"We have to play at a much more consistent level," Haagsma said.

Here's a look at some of the top teams in the state tournament:

Cortez: Coach Tarik Jame's players have lived up to his competitiveness, passion and selflessness expectations. "We've had to battle through some tough injuries but have had some guys step up in games," James said. "It's really fun watching them do what they do. They play hard, and they play for each other." Davon MacBeth (15 ppg), Octavious Holguin (7 apg), Matt Drannbauer (7 rpg), and Avery Smith (7 rpg) lead the way for the No. 9 seed (21-3).

Chinle: Despite having its third head coach in as many seasons, Chinle continued to work very hard and the players were willing to learn, coach Charles Gover said. The 24-5 team was rewarded with the No. 1 seed. Returning starters Kevin Yazzie and Wyatt Tuni and Ty-Martin Francisco have helped their team win 15 of its past 16 games.

Snowflake: The No. 8 seed (25-5 overall) has six players who are each averaging 6.5 points per game or more.

Show Low: Senior Jackson Jessop is averaging 14.7 points and 11.8 rebounds per game for the No. 5 seed. Junior Sean Potter is scoring a team-high 16.1 points per game.

Benson: Guards Sean Brogan and Cody Wilson and post players Adam Saenz and Dante Britton are each averaging double figures in points. The No. 4 seed (25-4) is outrebounding opponents by almost nine boards a game.

Yuma Catholic: The No. 3 seed is 20-4 and getting 21.6 points per game from Carter Rodriguez. Junior Matt Pistone is averaging close to a double-double for Yuma Catholic.

Combs: Junior Carter Aby leads the 22-9 team with 11 rebounds and 3.2 assists per game. Sherron Brooks (14.5) is the leading scorer for the No. 6 seed.

Scottsdale Christian: The No. 7 seed (20-7) lost its only D-III games to Valley Christian. A handful of players are contributing all over the court for veteran coach Bob Fredericks.

Tuba City: Christian Begody, Tristan Begay and Alonzo Thompson have scored in double figures throughout most of the season for the No. 10 seed (25-4).

Division III Girls Basketball Preview

By Jose Garcia
AIA365

With a spotless 30-0 record, picking Valley Christian's girls basketball team as the No. 1 seed in the Division III girls basketball state tournament was easy.

And as long as the entire team is receiving the attention, the squad is content.

"This team has been about encouraging each other, having each others' backs and doing it together as a team — no individual stars looking for the spotlight here," said Valley Christian's long-time assistant coach Al Nelson.

With four players averaging double figures in points, Valley Christian certainly plays like an unselfish bunch.

But the surprising thing about Valley Christian's undefeated season is that doesn't have any seniors. The roster is comprised of three juniors, four sophomores and five freshmen, and boy do they love to launch it from 3-point land.

The team has made 219 threes, including four players who are in double digits in threes made, this year.

"As coaches, we have been blessed to have such a fantastic bunch of players who have bought into our program," Nelson said.

Valley Christian might be undefeated, but it hasn't played the defending champ, No. 2 seed Winslow, yet this season.

Below is a look at some of the top state tournament teams, including Winslow.

Winslow: The defending champ suffered a couple of concussions and injuries but will start the state tournament with 22-4 under second-year coach Jerron Jordan. Winslow starts last year's Small School Player of the Year for The Arizona Republic, Shandiin Armao (17 points, 13 rebounds per game). Halle Hayes is grabbing 11 rebounds per game.

Page: The No. 8 seed lost to Tuba City in the first round of super sectionals, but defeated Winslow and No. 10 seed Many Farms in overtime during the regular season. Ember Sloan is all over the court, averaging 10.7 points, 3.7 steals, and 5.4 assists per game.

Window Rock: The No. 4 seed is 22-7 behind the play of Naomie Klah, Shaniya Betsoi, and Caleigh Curley. "Our senior leadership has been great and nonstop," coach William Beach said.

Pusch Ridge: Juniors Moriah Roters and Olivia Christian are the team's leading scorers for the No. 3 seed (23-5). Shelby Harris and Lacy Cain are also juniors and the team's top defenders and rebounders. "We do not have a senior on the team, so we are trying to go for it (state title) this year and not rely on the rallying cry of 'Wait 'till next year' when we'll have six seniors," coach Lonnie Tvrdy said.

Estrella Foothills: Coach Matthew Johnson's squad is the No. 6 seed (22-5 overall) and has won 17 in a row. The team's only divisional losses came to Valley Christian and Fountain Hills. Estrella Foothills lost its leading scorer, Shelby Curry, in January to an ACL injury. But Catherine St. Vincent has stepped in, averaging 17 points per game in the past month.

Fountain Hills: The No. 7 seed (21-3 overall) will be a threat with its seniors leaders, Hannah Shupe, Sadie Czarnyszka, McKenna Schultz, Ashlin Caltabiano, and Natalie Stilwell (14 points per game). Helping beat defending D-IV state champion Salt River during the season helped the team's confidence, coach Mandy Baca said. "We worked very well on both ends of the court (against Salt River)," Baca said.
