Most of 2012's individual state champions were seniors. That has opened the door for new blood in the winner's circle in many of the state's four divisions -- male and female.

Here's a brief look at the top individuals and teams by division vying for honors at Cave Creek Golf Course in Phoenix, barring injury/illness:

DIVISION I BOYS: TEAM -- This is Corona del Sol's title to win. The Aztecs won all five invitationals they participated in and have a solid trio of runners who are top 10 if not top five material. Desert Vista, which competed in the same region with Corona, is strong but will have to be at its best to knock off Corona for the top spot. Other teams to watch are Ironwood Ridge, Brophy Prep, Highland, Perry, Mesa Mountain View and Catalina Foothills. INDIVIDUAL -- The favorite is Corona del Sol senior Nathan Rodriguez, who has won five invitationals, the Tempe City Meet and his sectional. Rodriguez has company with teammates Ryan Normand and Marcus Wheeler, who push him if no one else does. Normand has run within a second or two on several occasions with Rodriguez. Other runners to watch are Nick Dale (Mtn. Ridge), Tyler Day (Mesquite), Jordan Hellebuyck (Ironwood Ridge), Ahmed Mohamed (Rincon), Xavier Esparza (Desert Vista), Gunther Albrecht and Cade Burks (Perry) and Alex Nova (Boulder Creek).

DIVISION II BOYS: TEAM -- Cactus Shadows lost its top runner to graduation, but the Falcons have the rest of last year's title squad back. Cactus Shadows was an easy winner last year and some of its top competition has moved up to D-I (namely Ironwood Ridge). Catalina Foothills is another team to watch. INDIVIDUAL -- There is no returning champ here, but expect a battle among Vista Grande's Adrian Ortega, Campo Verde's Lucky Schreiner, Catalina Foothills Harvey Nelson, Notre Dame Prep's Jack Hovland, McClintock's Emmanuel Hidalgo, South Mountain's Daniel Friez, Cactus Shadows' Keith Durkin, Pueblo's Christian Santa Cruz, Sunnyslope's Alex Bates, Saguaro's Alex Stevens and Arcadia's John Reniewicki.

DIVISION III BOYS: TEAM -- Should be a tight race among Tuba City, Page and defending champ Rio Rico. Each returns key runners from last season. INDIVIDUAL -- Runners to watch in what figures to be a wide-open race are Tuba City's Anthony Masayesva, Brian Masayesva and Albert Fuller; Rio Rico's Oscar Amaya, Carlos Villarreal and Ben Noriega; Page's Jeffery Miller and Xiajia Schuldies and Mingus' Gustavo Banks.

DIVISION IV BOYS: TEAM -- Hopi has been a dominant small school for years and 2013 should be no exception. Others to watch are Glendale Prep and Pusch Ridge. INDIVIDUAL -- The defending champ does return -- Pusch Ridge's Kyle Cajero. Cajero will be pushed by Arizona Lutheran's Josh Hoskinson, who has proven himself one of the top runners in the state regardless of division over his four seasons. Others to watch are Hopi's Terry Hoventewa and Anfernee Howard, North Prep's Jonathan Hall and Pinon's Adriano Joe.

DIVISION I GIRLS: TEAM -- It's a two-school race between Xavier and Desert Vista. Tough for any other schools to beat out that duo. Other schools to watch: Mesa Mountain View and Highland. INDIVIDUAL -- Desert Vista junior Dani Jones is the girls' version of Nathan Rodriguez. She's won all her races in Arizona and stepped out and done well in elite meets out of state. She's primed to take the place of Xavier's Sarah Fakler as the state's top runner. Freshman sister Baylee Jones seems intent on following big sister Dani's lead, usually running right behind her in meets. Other runners to watch are Highland's Lauren Ellsworth, Desert Vista's Nicole Hicks, Xavier's Shelby Brown, Mesa Mountain View's Huston Jones, Red Mountain's Taryn Estavillo, Mesquite's Alice Jensen and Chaparral's Alli Kallner.

DIVISION II GIRLS TEAM: -- Flagstaff is the defending champ and with three of its top five returning is the favorite. Catalina Foothills was strong in winning its section. INDIVIDUAL -- The runaway state champ is back -- two-time state champ -- Flagstaff's Tatiana Gillick. It doesn't appear anyone is good enough to give her a run at a threepeat. Others to watch are Flagstaff teammates Fiona Nicholson and Alix Mancini, Vista Grande's Carissa Diaz.

DIVISION III GIRLS TEAM: -- Page and Mingus should duke it out for the title. Page won the title last year. INDIVIDUAL -- Ganado sophomore Nikesha Eagleman is the top returning finisher last year (third in D-IV). She moves up a division and is likely to be challenged by Rio Rico freshman Alexandra Schadler. Schadler won the Doug Conley and finished sixth overall at Desert Twilight. Others to watch: Ganado's Nikesha Eagleman, Fountain Hills Sierra Jarriel.

DIVISION IV GIRLS TEAM: -- A race among Hopi. Pusch Ridge, Northland Prep, Scottsdale Prep and perhaps Pusch Ridge. Hopi and Pusch Ridge finished 1-2, respectively, last year with plenty of experienced runners in their lineups. INDIVIDUAL -- There will be a new division champ following Pusch Ridge's Sarah McDonald graduation. Hopi has five of its top seven runners back led by Claryn Josytewa, Christen Ben and Kaitlin Billy. Pusch Ridge returns five runners led by Cayley Hensley and Mali Smith. Other title challengers are Horizon Honors senior Mykaela Martin and Scottsdale Prep's Charlotte Moore. Northland Prep is led by Valentina Nyhart.

By Les Willsey

The last time Hopi failed to win a boys cross country team title was 1989.

The last time that program made a coaching switch was never.

But even head coach Rick Baker would tell you that Hopi has a nationally recognized boys cross country program for many other reasons besides himself. At the core of Hopi's success is an indigenous culture that values its young runners not just for their ability.

Running is a vital link that helps keep Hopi's athletes stay connected with their roots. The Hopi reservation in Arizona is located in the northeastern corner of the state and is comprised of also the Tewa, who are originally from New Mexico.

Throughout the year, the Tewa and the Hopi participate in religious ceremonies where running plays a very important role. Young men are expected to take prayers to different springs or shrines located in villages spread about two to six miles apart.

Those prayers carry the requests for moisture for the Hopi's corn and melon fields and animals or for good health. Besides running, the Hopi fast and stay up through the night, a rigorous endeavor for anybody, especially for young men, Baker said.

To help the young men find the inner strength to continue with the ceremonies, the Hopi's elders will often say navahongvita, which means hope, Baker explained.

"We say that (navahongvita) when we want the boys to dig down deep when they are tired," Baker said.

It's the same word that Hopi High's runners hear from their throng of supporters during cross country events.

But Baker needed more than just a strong running lineage to start reeling in one state trophy after another. After recruiting on-campus talent and getting his first three classes of runners to believe in Baker's discipline doctrine, Hopi took off and hasn't looked back since 1989, winning a national high school cross country record 23 consecutive titles.

"It (23 titles) is pretty amazing," Baker said. "I would have been satisfied with one. Again, it goes back to our tradition."

Having every type of trail needed for training at their doorstep in scenic Keams Canyon also is a blessing for Baker and his runners.

Also beneficial for training is the high elevation (about 6,500 feet) of Keams Canyon. Hopi has experienced a difficult loss during its two-plus decades of dominance, however.

Three years ago, one of Hopi's top runners, Rydell Namoki, was accidentally shot and killed during a ROTC rifle drill before the start of that season.

"It was a total shock," Baker said. "He (Namoki) was one of our best kids and never got in trouble. It affected the whole community."

Baker and his team leaned on each other during the difficult moments after Namoki passed away.

That year, Hopi honored Namoki by winning yet another small school title. The modest Baker didn't say the word dynasty when he described his program or mentioned retirement during a recent interview.

He is in his 27th season at the helm and doesn't appear ready to step down. Another number he is proud of is 26.

That's how many years he's been married to his wife, Deborah, who he met when he attended Winslow High, where Baker was a cross country champ. Baker and Deborah have two boys, and one of them, Chad, is as old as Hopi's current cross country state title streak, 23.

"I've been fortunate to have a great family," Baker, 54, said. "I get a lot of support from them. I've also had some great coaches along the way, which have helped me guide our runners."

The pre-race favorites -- as expected -- were the winners in the sweepstakes races at the 7th annual Desert Twilight Cross Country Invitational held the first weekend of October at Toka Sticks Golf Course in Mesa.

Corona del Sol senior Nathan Rodriguez and Desert Vista junior Dani Jones finished first in their respective races helping guide their squads to team titles as well. Corona bested the likes of Redondo Union, Redondo Beach, Calif., Page and Tuba City for first in the boys competition. Desert Vista dethroned last year's champ Xavier Prep. Desert Vista finished with 61 points, Xavier was second and Highland was fifth completing Arizona schools in the top 5.

Rodriguez was the top returning boys sweepstakes runner (fourth last season. Rodriguez covered the 5K course in 15 minutes, 8 seconds. Corona teammates Ryan Normand and Marcus Wheeler were right behind with Normand taking second (15:10) and Wheeler fourth (15:22). Rounding out Corona's scoring runners were Blake Fischer and Patrick Cullings. Corona totaled 102 points. Runner-up to Corona del Sol was Page.

Rodriguez has won every invitational he's raced in this season -- five in all. Dani Jones has been just as lethal in winning invites in Arizona and out of state. Desert Twilight is a strong indicator for top runners since the field is top notch and competition is so massive with schools across every division (4) from Arizona.

Completing the top 10 boys sweepstakes' race from Arizona finishers: Anthony Masayesva (3rd, Tuba City); Nick Dale (5th), Mountain Ridge, Lucky Schreiner (6th, Campo Verde), Harvey Nelson (7th, Catalina Foothills and Josh Hoskinson (9th, Arizona Lutheran).

Dani Jones winning time was 17 minutes, 19 seconds. Dani Jones sister, freshman Baylee, was third. Desert Vista took 15th (Nicole Hicks), 24th (Emily Smith) and 28th (Amanda Davis) to deny Xavier's bid at another title. Xavier was led by senior Shelby Brown (6th) and four teammates bunched at 20th (Sierra Brown), 21st (Jane Miller), 22nd (Lauren Kinzle) and 23rd (Sarah Carter).

Rounding out the top 10 girls sweepstakes' finishers from Arizona schools: Alexandra Schadler (4th, Rio Rico), Lauren Ellsworth (5th, Highland) and Huston Jones (9th, Mesa Mountain View).

Rio Rico's Schadler Rising Fast

By Les Willsey
AIA365

Alexandra Schadler entered her first season of high school cross country hopeful, yet somewhat guarded about how she would perform.

It took a little more than a month of regular-season competition for the Rio Rico freshman to up the ante on a goal set while training back in the summer.

"At the beginning of the year my goal was to be in the top five at state," Schadler said. "When I ran well at (Doug) Conley and Desert Twilight, I decided my goal had changed. Now I think I can win (state)."

An inkling of what was to come came at Rio Rico's first meet of the season -- the Chandler Invitational. The Chandler Invite format isn't like most invitationals. It's broken down to freshman, sophomore, junior and senior races. Schadler posted a winning time that day in the freshman race of 19 minutes, 50 seconds. Only four runners turned in better times that day -- two seniors and two juniors who will race in the D-I or D-II state meets.

Schadler, who is coached currently by her father, Steve, and previous seasons in middle school by her other, Toni Anne, is very unassuming. She gave the preseason nod to upper classmen from competing schools -- a show of respect. She still has that respect, but after competing head to head with many of the state's very best regardless of division, she has evidence to back up her new-found goal.

"I thought I could be one of the best freshmen," Alexandra Schadler said. "I knew I would be going against really good seniors and juniors. After running in some tough meets I've found I can do well on different courses. I found I was good running hills (Conley) and the toughest was Twilight which was such a fast race."

Steve Schadler, who has coached championship teams at Rio Rico, saw the light come on for his daughter on a late September morning at the Doug Conley Invitational.

"Conley was an eye-opener," Steve Schadler said. "I knew she was strong and she was able to finish fast there. I saw she was in third place with about 600 meters left, but I didn't see the end of the race. I didn't know where she finished at the end. One of the other coaches told me a Rio Rico runner won."

Alexandra Schadler made her move to the top at Conley in the final 300 meter, outracing Highland's Lauren Ellsworth to the finish. Three of her top competitors at the D-III state meet in three weeks ran at Conley -- Tuba City senior Brianna Loughran, Ganado sophomore Nikesha Eagleman and Page sophomore Lara Yazzie. At Conley, Schadler's time was 33 seconds faster than Loughran and more than a minute faster than Eagleman and Yazzie. It was just one race, but gives an indication how good Schadler is and is fast becoming.

"My goal is to see her be competitive and do well," Steve Schadler said. "I'm excited to see the level she's ascended to so quickly. What's been most pleasing is she's run very poised and complete races."

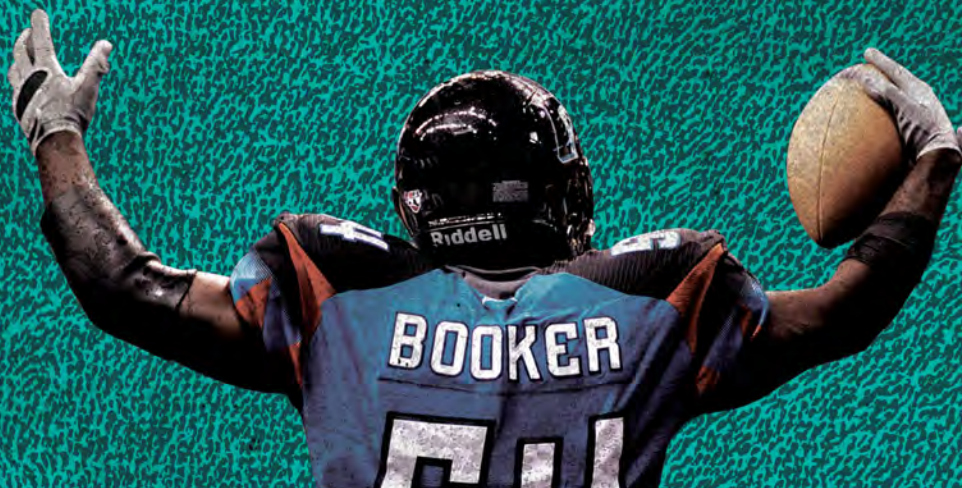

Choosing running wasn't a sure thing for Alexandra. Even though her parents were accomplished runners and competed collegiately, both encouraged her to try different sports as a pre-teen. She dabbled in soccer, basketball, swimming and track/cross country. Swimming proved to be a finalist at the end, but running won out.

"I found I was better at running than anything else," Alexandra Schadler said. "I think maybe all along I had a feeling I'd pick running."

A wise choice for Alexandra. Perhaps not for her competition.
