AIA

In September, the Arizona Interscholastic Association officially sanctioned a state tournament for robotics, joining 27 other AIA sports/activities that already compete for state titles. The interest for robotics and STEM initiatives is growing at Arizona high schools and the AIA is proud to provide an opportunity for these teams to compete in a fun and exciting atmosphere.

The first high school robotics season in Arizona will start during the spring season and teams will compete in regional events run by FIRST, a non-profit organization that organizes robotic events internationally. The top 30 teams from the regionals will then advance to the May 23 state tournament at the Prescott Valley Events Center.

There are currently 49 high schools that have robotics teams in Arizona. The AIA's goal is to double that number of teams by May 2016. If you are interested in supporting the AIA robotics program and state tournament as a corporate partner, please contact AIA Sports Properties at 602-385-3828 or facosta@aia365.com.

Mesa Mountain View senior twins Kieffer and Weston Taylor were hanging out recently prior to practice and anticipating the final meets of the season -- sectionals and state. They are eager to see if they and their teammates can come away with a second consecutive team wrestling title.

The Toros are a heavy favorite to do just that at the Division I state wrestling meet Friday Feb. 13 and Saturday Feb. 14 at Prescott Valley Events Center. But the Taylor twins are also looking for a little self gratification. To use a baseball term -- twin killing -- in the figurative sense, of course. Their twin killing would be taking home individual titles. Neither has done that in three previous tries in two states.

"I've been second two years in a row and that sucks," Kieffer Taylor said. "I want the win this time."

Kieffer Taylor, the Toros' 170-pounder, has placed in three of three state meets. He and Weston wrestled at Maple Mountain High (Spanish Fork, Utah) their freshman and sophomore seasons. Kieffer was third in Utah in 2012 and runner-up there in 2013. The family relocated to Arizona prior to the 2014 season, settling in at Mountain View. Last year Kieffer placed second again to Basha's two-time state champ Trey Ronayne.

Weston Taylor, Mountain View's 160-pounder, has placed twice in state meets in three seasons. His first placement was in 2013 (fourth in Utah). Last year at Mountain View he was runner-up to a two-time champ, Corona del Sol's Ethan Tursini.

"There is nothing possible to keep state from us," Weston said of he and his brother's title quest. "That's my mindset."

Mountain View coach Bob Callison likes their chances of going out on top. They have different personalities, but those have translated to an abundance of wins on the mat.

"Weston's more quiet and reserved," Callison said. "Kieffer isn't afraid to let you know what he's thinking. He'll let it fly. They'll have to work for their titles, but you have to like their chances."

One of Weston's losses this season was to Westwood's Austin Moyer, who entered sectionals unbeaten. Weston avenged that loss in the section final Feb. 7 at Skyline High, pinning Moyer. Kieffer prevailed via pin as well, topping Dobson's Zachary Gutierrez.

The Taylor twins high school careers have paralleled each other's very nearly to a tee when you add up their successes year round in the sport. But then what would one expect from identical twins?

D-I TOURNAMENT NOTES: Defending team champion is Mesa Mountain View. The rest of last year's top five in the team standings were Sunnyside, Boulder Creek, Corona del Sol and Ironwood Ridge. This year's section champs are Sunnyside, Mountain Ridge, Centennial and Mesa Mountain View. Centennial brings the most qualifiers (14), followed by Mesa Mountain View (12) and Sunnyside, Mountain Ridge and Sandra Day O'Connor with 10 each. Teams qualifying the most section champs are Mountain View and Sunnyside with seven each, Centennial with five and Boulder Creek with four. There are four defending individual champions. They are Ironwood Ridge's Danny Vega, Sunnyside's Juaquin Olivas, Mountain View's Blake Monty and Centennial's Lewis Arendall. Vega won at 106 last year, Olivas won at 120, Monty at 145 and Arendall at 220. Olivas is a two-time champ. Four wrestlers enter state competition unbeaten for the season. They are Sunnyside's Roman Bravo-Young 39-0 (106); Ironwood Ridge's Vega 30-0 (113); Desert Vista's Jeremiah Imonode 36-0 (195) and Marana's Travis Howard 44-0 (220). Eleven wrestlers who won titles at the prestigious Flowing Wells invitational in mid-January are competing for D-I titles -- Bravo-Young, Vega, Mesa Mountain View's Paden Mason (MTV); Olivas; Corona del Sol's Marc Farina; Mesa Mountain View's Anthony Wokasch, Monty, Weston Taylor, Kieffer Taylor, Imonode and Howard.

Marana Mountain View climbed from a 12th place finish in Division II in 2012 to a second place finish last year and they are taking aim at the state title this time around after defeating their rival Vail Cienega at sectionals 199 to 170.

The Section II tournament was held at Tucson Flowing Wells on Saturday, Feb. 7. For Mountain View, Camden Garcia won the 120-pound division, Trey Waltz won the 132-division and Tyler Werch took home the 145 medal.

Cienega standouts Jason Ayala (113) and Ronald Brown (152) won their divisions and Andrew Vera is also expected to do well at state in the 195-division for the Bobcats.

But winning isn't everything for a team to do well at state. In order to finish high, a school must have wrestlers place high enough to score and Mountain View placed in every division at sectionals except for a few of the heavier ones:

106: Javier Ortiz took second to Tucson Catalina Foothills standout Jacob Davis.

113: Andrew Cota took third.

120: Garcia defeated Johnnie Luna of Tucson Sahuaro.

126: Ryan Henkel took fourth.

132: Waltz defeated Jace Manriquez of Cienega.

138: Frankie Lee took third.

145: Werch defeated Jesus Galaviz of Maricopa.

152: Colin Hall took fourth.

160: Quintin Jones took second to Javier Pro of Tucson Desert View.

170: Dallas Altamirano took second to Kenny Gay of Maricopa.

195: Louis Aguilar took fourth.

Werch (43-12) will be matched up against Jose Moreno (24-16) of Kingman in the first round of the state playoffs. 16 wrestlers will compete in each weight class for a shot at the state title and four straight victories is all it takes.

Garcia (38-8) is matched up against Greg Burgess (37-9) of Scottsdale Cactus Shadows and Waltz (38-7) will meet up with Corrye Jackson (28-14) of Peoria Liberty. Waltz has been chasing after Manriquez all year but finally pulled off a 3-2 decision at sectionals.

"I knew it would be a tough match with Jace but I knew I needed to wrestle tough," said Waltz. "The win felt good and will help me prepare for state where I know the competition gets tougher and any mistake can be a deciding factor. I need to be prepared for several tough matches," he added.

Waltz came in second place last year in the lower 126-division and Vera (45-5) came in second in the 195-division.

Competitiveness is ingrained in wrestlers, on and off the mat.

Look no further than Seton Catholic's wrestlers for proof. The Sentinels sometimes brag about their high grades as much as their wrestling triumphs before practice.

But they are also encouraged to do so. Coach Eric Larkin wants 4.0 GPAs as much as he wants pins.

"We are building a wrestling group at Seton that goes far beyond the wrestling," Larkin said. "We want to do the same thing with our schoolwork and grades."

This year's wrestling group might meet the high standard that Larkin expects.

Larkin, a former national wrestling champ at Arizona State and two-time state champ at Sunnyside, is in his third season at the Chandler high school. His program finished 28th at state in his first season, in the top-10 last year, a first for Seton, and is one of the favorites to win the D-III title this week.

To win Seton's first title, Larkin wants to see his five state qualifiers reach their individual title matches.

"My whole philosophy is that no matter where you are ranked or seeded, you plan on taking first," Larkin said.

It's a formidable task to accomplish considering that two of Seton's state qualifiers were injured this year and haven't wrestled much this season.

And one of those injured kids, Jacob Garcia, broke both his elbows and has screws in each elbow. But he's still considered one of the higher wrestlers in his weight class (108).

Garcia's timing has been off, but Larkin expects his freshman to regain his "swagger" during practice.

The other Sentinel who has recovered is Brandon Konecny, a strong 154-pound wrestler who suffered an injury about midway through the season. He's got about 13 matches under his belt, but he pinned everybody during the sectional meet.

Konecny, a sophomore, finished fifth at state last year and is seeded second in this week's D-III state meet, which concludes on Friday (Feb. 13) at the Prescott Valley Events Center. Nothing or nobody will likely slow down Seton's Quentin Hovis and Sergio Chavez at state.

The returning state champs haven't lost to in-state wrestlers in their weight divisions this season. Hovis, a sophomore, is always looking to be challenged and did so this year when he sought competition outside his 138-weight division, where he lost his only matches this season.

His tenaciousness, strength and unorthodox wrestling style make Hovis tough to take down. Chavez, a senior, won his title at 160 but is going after the 170 crown this season. The real quick Chavez made the rounds nationally this year and started getting looks by colleges. His 1-0 loss to California's No. 2 at 170, Colt Doyle of Poway High School, was a highlight this year.

Sophomore Vincent Dolce is seeded 4th in his state class (120) and is arguably the hardest working wrestler in Seton Catholic's wrestling program. He finished second at state last year, and is the other wrestler Larkin expects to see in the finals.

Larkin and his boys will head to Prescott with big goals and a couple of capable assistants, Jack Cardinal and Kellan Fluckiger. Cardinal and Fluckiger have done their part to help bolster Seton's wrestling program, Larkin said.

"If we get all five guys in the finals, it's possible we can win it all if everything goes right," Larkin said.

The final chance to see one of the more imposing wrestling forces compete in high school arrives this week.

Camp Verde's Ryan Allred, the clear favorite at 152 in Division IV, is gunning for his 4th state championship, but he's not the only must-watch wrestler on his team. Camp Verde, the two-time defending state team champ, is well-armed for another run after 13 of its wrestlers qualified for state, which starts Thursday (Feb. 12) and concludes Friday at the Prescott Valley Events Center.

"He's a physical specimen," said Camp Verde coach Tracy Tudor about Allred. "He obliterates the competition."

If he wins state, Allred will become the first four-time state champ for Camp Verde, which has won five team state championships.

Allred's success rate is high, having lost only one high school match in his career, and helping him remain a fixture at the top of the award podiums is Allred's A-team, dad Larry and Camp Verde coach Mario Chagolla. Larry, a Camp Verde assistant, is "super dedicated," and Chagolla, Allred's "sensei," is a well-known name in the Arizona wrestling community.

Camp Verde, a winner in every dual meet this year except for its showdown with Sunnyside, hasn't missed a beat under its new coach, Tudor. Tudor has been with Camp Verde for 10 years and took over after Camp Verde's wrestling architect, Bob Weir, stepped down after last season.

Tudor isn't the only influential voice Camp Verde hears, however. Besides Chagolla, Larry and Tudor, the team's "brotherhood" of coaches also includes Jim Bowser and Travis Black.

"Coaching is much more rewarding than anything I've ever done," said Tudor, a retired military member. "Seeing kids heading in the wrong direction and being able to coach them not just to state but in life and seeing them succeed in life, nothing beats that. They are family forever."

Tudor's kids this year are talented, particularly in the lower weight classes, with Skyler Pike (106), Hayden Uhler (113), Alex Casillas (120), Ezequiel Casillas (126), Matt Mejia (132), Allred and Jeremy McEachern (175).

Allred is the best wrestler in his weight class regardless of division, and McEachern can also make that case also. Uhler, Mejia and Alex, a two-time state champ, also have been crowned state champions in the past.

Also helping Camp Verde stay in championship form are the kids who play other sports such as football players Curtis Corder (195), heavyweight Jesus and his brother Jose Curiel (160), and Brett Worth (220). There's also been a couple of surprises for Camp Verde, including sophomore David Perez (145), who took second at sectionals, and junior Kyle Little (138), who just started wrestling this season.

Camp Verde carries the cast of characters to help them walk away with another title, but there's also another component that is guiding the team this season — its faith.

"We give it all to our Lord Jesus Christ," Tudor said. "We are a brotherhood because of our faith. Our faith is our foundation. We are nothing without it."
