Mesa Mountain View has ruled the Division I roost the past two years, last year in convincing style given the competition D-I brings. The Toros shoot for a third successive title come Thursday (Feb. 11) and Friday (Feb. 12) at Prescott Valley Event Center in Prescott Valley.

Last year's top three -- two-time defending champ Mesa Mountain View (13 qualifiers), Ironwood Ridge (12 qualifers) and Sunnyside (11 qualifiers) -- are most prominent in the team chase again. Of added interest is how last year's D-II champ, Cibola (14 qualifiers), will fare moving up to D-I.

It's usually about depth and maybe an upset or two to the plus-side for a team as to who wins. Mountain View and Sunnyside placed seven wrestlers in the top four last season with Sunnyside having the most champs (three). Ironwood Ridge had five top-4 placers as did Red Mountain. Those were the top four teams, respectively, at the state tourney. Mountain View was a relatively easy winner with 10 wrestlers placing (top six) last year. Cibola won a tight battle with Liberty for the D-II team title. Cibola placed eight (two champs) and Liberty seven (1 champ).

This year Mountain View has eight wrestlers among the top-four seeds followed by Cibola (7), Ironwood Ridge (5) and Sunnyside (4). Sunnyside and Ironwood Ridge have the most No. 1 seeds (three each) and Corona del Sol has two.

Mountain View bested Ironwood Ridge in a couple duals earlier in the season, but Ironwood Ridge came out on top at the Flowing Wells Invitational last month. Ironwood Ridge also bested Sunnyside at the D-I Section I meet last weekend with another strong showing. D-I Section 1 is arguably the strongest overall of the four D-I sections. All the aforementioned teams competed at Flowing Wells and finished in the top-8. Ironwood Ridge won the tournament edging out Mountain View (2nd) and Sunnyside (3rd) among the 30-team field that included lower-division powers Seton Catholic (D-II), Thunderbird (D-II) and Safford (D-III).

Here are the top four seeds in each weight class and a list of champions returning from last season.

Last year's returning champions: Danny Vega, Ironwood Ridge senior (113). Vega is again competing at 113. He is the only two-time state champ in this year's D-I field. His other title came in 2014 in D-II. Vega is working on a third consecutive unbeaten season and has signed with Grand Canyon University. Roman Bravo-Young, Sunnyside sophomore (106). Angel Laguna, Sunnyside senior (120). Laguna is competing at 132. He was 30-5 last year and brings a 12-5 record to competition this year. Bravo-Young is competing at 120. Bravo-Young was 47-0 last year and is 34-0 this year. Ryan Farina, Corona del Sol junior (126). Farina is competing at 132. Farina was 28-6 last year and finished fifth as a freshman in 2014 at 119. He lost in the first round that year to eventual champ Alejandro Calderon of Maryvale. James Williams, Mesa High senior (152). Williams is competing at 160 and is 35-0 this season. He finished 47-2 last year, upsetting the top-seed in the finals.

106-pounds: 1. Colton Labrant, Mtn. Ridge. 2. Carlos Gerard, Cibola. 3. Vicente Loaiza, Sunnyside. 4. Bowen Doolen, Mtn. View. 113: 1. Danny Vega, Ironwood Ridge. 2. Ray Ramirez, Red Mountain. 3. Div. II Wrestling: Cibola Moving Up Means Division Wide Open

By Andy Morales
azpreps365.com

Cibola won the Division II title last year but the Raiders are wrestling in D-I this winter. Look for Liberty and Mountain View to move up and challenge for the title this year. Kofa finished in 41st place last year but the Kings won the Section I title this year by a wide margin over Desert Edge.

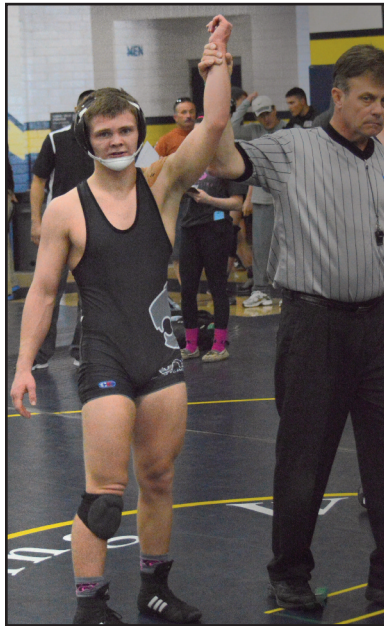

Kofa qualified 10 wrestlers for state, Mountain View qualified 11 and Liberty had 12 move up. Queen Creek saw 10 wrestlers qualify as did Deer Valley. Section II winner Seton Catholic qualified eight.

Eight champions graduated from last year and six are returning with only McClintock sophomore Marco Groves competing in the same weight class (132) as he did last year.

Brandon Courtney of Desert Edge, Gator Groves of McClintock and Daniel Hernandez of Prescott moved up one weight class while James Deitz of Liberty and Jacob Swift of Deer Valley moved up two weight classes.

The 106-pound weight class is wide open with the top three placers from last year either graduated or wrestling in another weight class. Mountain View Marana sophomore Javier Ortiz (33-10) took fourth place last year and he sees a perfect opportunity.

"I've been thinking of this since middle school," Ortiz said. "I worked hard for this. Our team is coming back."

Amphitheater wrestling has been on the cusp of a championship breakthrough of late. The Panthers have back-to-back runner-up finishes in Division III. Two of the top contenders from last year -- champion Thunderbird and third-place Seton Catholic -- are gone. Both are battling for the top slot in D-II this year. It would figure to be Amphi's turn with five state-placers returning.

But Safford and perhaps Show Low may have something to say about that Friday (Feb. 12) and Saturday (Feb. 13) at this year's state tournament at Prescott Valley Event Center in Prescott Valley.

Amphi's lineup features seven seniors and juniors among its 11 qualifiers, which may give it an edge. However, last week at sectionals Amphi settled for second behind Safford, which is dominated by underclassmen (four sophomores and two freshmen among a deep lineup). Safford was the lone D-III contender to compete in the Flowing Wells Invite and finished fifth overall behind D-I and D-II powers. Amphi, Safford and Show Low each qualified 11 for state. Amphi and Show Low bring five section champs each and Safford four. Amphi is led by Kyle Rodriguez, Yarhoki Aldiva and Cris Sanchez. Safford's lineup is powered by Chanse Rios and Dawon Andrews. Show Low by Jackson Allen, Willie Wyatt and Jaisen Brown.

Here are the top four seeds in each weight class, plus division champions returning from last season.

Last year's returning champions: Isaac Cabrera, Coconino, senior (106). Cabrera is competing at 113 this year. He was 47-4 last year and brings a 44-7 record. He placed fifth in 2014. Jackson Allen, Show Low, sophomore (113). Allen is competing at 138 this year. He was 44-3 last year and brings a 21-3 record this year. Yarhoki Aldiva, Amphitheater, senior (132). Aldiva was 45-9 last year and is competing again at 132. He brings a 49-4 record this year. Kyle Rodriguez, Amphitheater, senior (195). Rodriguez was 46-4 last year and competing again at 195. He brings a 47-0 record this year. He pinned all four opponents in winning state in 2015, placed third in 2014 and sixth in 2013.

106-pounds: 1. Diego Guerrero, Walden Grove. 2. Jonathan Ruiz, Yuma. 3. Hunter Bateman, Show Low. 4. Nathan Smith, Williams Field. 113: 1. Adan Guillen, Tempe. 2. Jacob Frias, . 3. Carlos Alcantar, Yuma. 4. Dante Garcia, Page. 120: 1. Byron Finch, Safford. 2. Elias Gonzales, Tempe. 3. Adrian Gomez, Yuma. 4. JC Mortensen, Chino Valley. 126: 1. Kendall Foster, Chino Valley, 2. Ramiro Vasquez, Yuma. 3. Joey Basila, Sabino. 4. David Marquez, Coolidge. 132: 1. Yarhoki Aldiva, Amphitheater. 2. Raymond Correa, Coronado. 3. Mason Fagotti, Show Low. 4. Kuayveon Dyer, Sierra Linda. 138: 1. Jackson Allen, Show Low. 2. Jaren Savage, Tempe. 3. Chanse Rios, Safford. 4. Max Alcalá, San Luis. 145: 1. Dawon Andrews, Safford. 2. Logan Lamoreaux, Williams Field. 3. Mason Wester, Kingman. 4. Camilo Dela Torre-Hern, Cortez. 152: 1. Kyle Robbins, Cesar Chavez. 2. Treyton Jundt, Wickenburg. 3. Adam Henderson, Blue Ridge. 4. Saul Payan Diaz, Amphitheater. 160: 1. Lisandro Soto, San Luis. 2. Gary Medevielle, Chino Valley. 3. Rafael Parades, Amphitheater. 4. Jesus Zamorano, Coolidge. 170: 1. Karl Halstead, Moon Valley. 2. Spence Coffin, Chino Valley. 3. Zane McKinney, Williams Field. 4. Ricky Telles, Sahuarita. 182: 1. Uriah Dobell, Coconino. 2. Jacob Advincula, Greenway. 3. Diego Huerta, Salpointe. 4. D-IV Wrestling: Character Counts For Mogollon's Stephens But Title Would Be Nice Too

By Jose Garcia

Baylend Stephens went to a relative's home with cable TV to watch the Super Bowl.

This year's Super Bowl didn't exactly turn into must-watch TV, but it did serve as a distraction for Stephens before locking arms in his final week of high school wrestling. The Super Bowl also kept the Mogollon's senior's mind occupied with something else besides the is-this-the-year question that's dogged him for the past couple of years.

Stephens wrestled in a state championship match in his first three seasons, with the oppositions' arms raised in victory, however. Sympathy and wrestling don't mix on a mat, especially when a wrestler is 54-0, Stephen's record this season, heading into the 2015-16 wrestling state finals.

But for Stephens' fans in the stands at the Prescott Valley Events Center, the cheers of support will likely be louder than usual during the senior's final quest to reach the top of the state championship podium.

Despite the season ending championship setbacks, Stephens confronted defeat with grace in each of those three championship matches. And win or lose this weekend, don't expect Stephens' determination and maturity to dissipate.

"It's not something I want to give up on (winning a title)," Stephens said. "In the end I will definitely win one, in high school or in college. It's a goal that I have set. Not to be able to do it so far is heartbreaking, but it's pushing me to work harder."

Being the youngest of seven siblings helps him stay grounded and hungry.

Stephens' five brothers wrestled, including three-time state champ Banning. At home, where the living room became a classroom of sorts, the Stephens often rolled out a wrestling mat, where Stephens' firsts toughest lessons were dished out.

No word on whether it's true, but Bethanie, the only girl Stephens' parents, Dane and Mandy, had, might have pinned her youngest brother once or twice in the living room as well. But now nobody in his family, except for Dane and Mandy, will order the 6-foot-2, 265-pound Stephens around.

The 18-year-old learned other key lessons while fending for himself. A tactical error and stiff competition led to his three championship defeats.

As a sophomore, when he moved up in weight, Stephens was 36-1 and a win away from completing his championship dream. But in a close match against Northwest Christian's Esteban Flores, Stephens wrongly chose up instead of down during a reset.

Flores escaped, allowing him to clinch a 5-3 decision.

"I was so upset," Stephens said. "I had been working to stay humble, but that loss hurt."

"It haunts me. I think about it, but I've let go of it. I can't do anything now. If I can tell my sophomore self, I would tell him to always chose down."

Working on being humble resulted from his overconfidence in his freshman season.

Stephens didn't lose a match in eight grade and believed he was "hot stuff."

But a much taller and ripped opponent, Ben Miller of Wilcox, made Stephens look like a "little boy" when they stood next to each other. But Stephens hung in there in a 6-2 defeat at 195.

"That (the loss) hurt my pride," Stephens said.

At the start of his junior season, another wrestler, heavyweight Santiago Robledo of Morenci, abruptly brought Stephens back to earth as well.

Stephens was on a high after helping Mogollon win a football state championship, flying all over the field and collecting 22 tackles, one sack and two force fumbles in the 14-8 win over Bagdad. But as soon as he traded in his helmet for a singlet, Santiago defeated Stephens twice in an early season tournament last year.

The duo was scheduled to square off again in another regular season tournament final, but Santiago showed up overweight, nixing the showdown. They had to wait until the heavyweight state final to meet again.

Stephens was leading 1-0 in that bout with about 30 seconds remaining in the third period when Santiago hooked an arm and rolled over Stephens in order to pin him.

"It was probably one of the worst feelings in my entire life," Stephens said. "I've lost a lot of matches, but I think I've been pinned only three times. I couldn't take it."

Despite the crushing defeat, the Mogollon standout didn't throw his headgear or run off and pout.

After losing his third consecutive, closely contested state final, nobody would have blamed him for acting out.

"Regardless of the three runner ups, I am still representing my high school and family," Stephens said. "I always try to have a good attitude and not go off in a corner and pout. There's always a tendency to take this as a learning experience. I think to me it says a lot about character. Rather than to blame anybody else, I messed up and should have worked harder. The losses have motivated me to be better."

This season, Stephens continues to carry himself like a winner on and off the mat.

"As a coach, I appreciate Baylend's work ethic and leadership," Mogollon wrestling coach Reed Porter said. "He's always on time to practice and sets the stage for the rest of our guys."

For a big man, Baylend has a variety of moves, something not often seen in heavyweights.

Mix in his controlled aggression and speed, and you've got one of the state's best heavyweights regardless of class. A big assist for his development goes to Stephens' brothers.

As for how he conducts himself, Dane and Mandy deserve a lot of the credit. About 10 years ago, Dane and Mandy decided to do something that's unthinkable nowadays — disconnect the cable from their television.

"We interact more as a family," Dane said. "Our home life has been exponentially better now that you don't see some of that garbage you see on TV. We don't let it run our lives."

The Stephens do have a computer at their home, and it might come in handy this weekend for those family members who can't make the drive to the Prescott Valley Events Center.

The state championships will be streamed live on azpreps365.com. One last time to see if Stephens, a Phoenix College commit, can bring a title home.

Another football heavyweight, Ben McGriff of Northwest Christian, who's been ranked No. 2 most of the season by arizona-wrestling.com in D-IV, might be Stephen's next big challenge if they reach the D-IV final.

"I don't think I can live with just a football championship," Stephens said. "I need one in wrestling. I've come so far. I have to finish it out."
