Welcome to the State Championships

On behalf of the Arizona Interscholastic Association, I would like to welcome all the participants, coaches, family and friends to our state championships. It is our pleasure to create an event that fans will enjoy and talk about for years to come.

The AIA recognizes the hard work and determination it took to get here, as well as the sacrifices made along the way. The membership continues to grow, opening more avenues for participation. And for that, we say thank you. The student-athletes, administrators, coaches and families have all earned our gratitude. You are what drives us.

While attending this championship, we hope that it is an enjoyable experience for all. The lessons learned regarding sportsmanship and fair play are elevated here. Athletics are an extension of the classroom, which is why we accentuate the “student” in student-athlete.

Participation in state championships goes beyond the boundaries of the playing arena and into the stands. The players and coaches are counting on you as the family and fans to represent the team, school and community with the highest regard. Incidents of bad behavior coming from beyond the sidelines keep rising. We want this to stop. It’s up to you. Be an ambassador for the sport and show your school spirit in the right way. As you enjoy all the championship contests, please show respect to those around you. Sports are meant to be fun and enjoyed by not only those participating, but those in attendance.

State championships are just a springboard to the success these student-athletes will achieve when the competition is over. In the process of deriving enjoyment from participation in athletics, our student-athletes are learning lifelong skills that will help them develop into healthy adults and productive citizens. National research continues to validate that students involved in extracurricular activities attend more days of school, perform better in the classroom and have less behavioral issues. This also includes lower dropout, alcohol and drug abuse rates as compared to those who do not participate. The benefits of participation are extensive.

Since the AIA’s inception in 1913, the association vigorously defends and promotes the positive developments of athletics, creates a culture that fosters self-governance and ethical behavior, and teaches, enforces, advocates and models the principles of the Arizona Accord and “Pursuing Victory With Honor.” Today, over 130,000 student-athletes statewide benefit from the leadership of our Board, administrators and hard-working coaches on an annual basis as we are “building character now ... for the future.”

The AIA hopes this championship, as well as any others you may attend, achieves the level of excellence our student-athletes deserve. Remember that these are “our students, our teams ... our future.”

NOTHING OUTPERFORMS INCLUSION!

While we all want our students to succeed today, what's also valuable is ensuring that inclusion is always at play. When a diverse group of students share one common pursuit, they develop compassion and empathy for their teammates and competitors.

That's the best possible outcome in high school sports—because every team and every student wins!

KEEVER'S IMPACT ON PHOENIX COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL GOES BEYOND THE COURT

By Jose Garcia
AZPreps365.com

Forgive Jerry Kever for not knowing his overall record. He's been busy impacting the lives of young tennis players for nearly 40 years now.

The venerable Phoenix Country Day School leader is also still on top of his game, with the 2024 state tennis tournaments set to start. His PCDS boys are chasing a four-peat and the PCD girls are seeking to three-peat.

Besides titles, Kever has worked just as hard at constructing a tennis family in a primarily individual sport.

"I want to create an enjoyable environment and positive experience," he said.

Kever began giving back to tennis after being laid off more than 40 years ago.

During a period when interest rates were astronomically high, Kever lost his architectural job three years after graduating from Arizona State. But his heart then led him back to the game he fell in love with while growing up in the central California city of Hanford.

He became the head tennis pro at a couple of stops, including the Mountain Shadows Resort in Scottsdale, a home away from home for 25 years. Along with his tennis tools, Kever also carried his family approach, which he adopted from one of his mentors, high school tennis coach Jack Sanford.

Kever eventually also landed at PCDS. This season, Kever is celebrating his 30th anniversary with the school as the girls and boys coach.

In 2019, he was rewarded with a well-deserved honor, when he was inducted into the school's Athletic Hall of Fame.

His credentials are quite impressive:

- Hovering around 700 wins.
- Thirty-seven region titles
- Twelve state championships
- Eight runner-ups
- Fifteen girls singles state champs
- Seven state boys champs
- Seven doubles champs

And Kever and his tennis family may not be done.

His girls are the favorites this season to win the team title, with sophomores Zara Campbell and Rachel Coviello leading the way. For the boys, PCD's Linus Gino-Griffiths and Jacques Sevrain are the defending Division III doubles champs.

"What I've done for tennis it has done as much for me if not more," Kever said. "The relationship with PCDS and athletic director Shane Lewis and assistant athletic director Bob Kosower (who hired Kever) just demonstrates how they strive for excellence, professionalism and creating an environment that will have a positive experience for kids."

AZPreps365 contacted some of this season's top teams to get feedback on their top singles and doubles players. Some of the answers were edited for brevity.

GIRLS

ARIZONA COLLEGE PREP (13-0): "Payton Tran and Megan Troung make an excellent doubles team because of their positive communication on the court. Their ongoing verbal strategizing, hand signals and racquet taps fully allow them to have a strong game plan in each match they play together. Payton's commitment to growing her personal tennis game is what helps her excel as our No. 1 player. Payton puts many hours into private training sessions and tournament play. Her hard work and effort are reflected in her Court 1 matches."—Coach Debi Stahl.

CHANDLER PREP (10-2): "Sonali Bhalla will hopefully be playing singles for the state tournament. She is previously a two-time state doubles champion, but her doubles partner graduated last year. She is consistent at rallying and can play with plenty of power when needing to. Elise Yeung is a talented sophomore. She will hopefully be playing doubles with her partner at the state tournament. Elise thrives in doubles due to her net play and her softer hitting." Desert Mountain (14-0): "Chae Rin Youn and Hannah FitzGerald are a great doubles team due to their communication on the court. Our Desert Mountain girls have been working hard this season. I am so proud of our DM girls team. They are true competitors on the tennis courts."—Coach Kim Dever. "I feel Chae Rin and I (Hannah FitzGerald) play so well together because of this. We trust each other's style of play and help each other out when we are feeling down. Overall, the most important part of playing doubles with Chae is that we have fun playing together."—FitzGerald.

GILA RIDGE (12-1): "For Elisa Schmidt and Faith Voorhies, I'd say that their friendship off the court has made them better players together on the court. They work through frustrations together and work on tennis outside of the season. Their skill sets compliment each other well. They both have a serious side but manage emotions well by having fun on the court. For Sarah Emmons, I'd say she's turned a corner this year in her work effort. She put in a lot of time in the offseason this year and cares a lot about the sport. She took pride in earning the No. 1 spot and has upped her competitive nature through earning that spot. She has been a good mentor for the younger players and is willing to teach and help other players to improve."—Coach Travis Bogart.

MILLENNIUM (13-2): "Emeri Ennis and Mollie Dittmer are a good combination together because each one complements the other on the court. Emeri has a big serve and ground strokes while Mollie is a strong volleyer at the net. Emeri overpowers girls with her serve, and Mollie volleys the returns for winners. My team has a strong group of sophomores who will be causing havoc against other teams for the next two years. We will lose two high performing seniors this year (Mikki Lyons, Zefea Rayner) but have two strong JV players to fill their purple shoes next year. The No. 2 doubles team of Mikki Lyons and Molly Lyons are sisters. They enjoy playing with each other. They have a high standard of play. They want to be playing doubles together because they both know that the other one will hold her own on the court. They've been playing together for seven years and are very comfortable with each other on and off the court. As we all know, getting along together is a key part in building a strong doubles team." —Coach Bob Nasenbeny.

Sorry Division III opponents, but the Phoenix Country Day tennis dynasty doesn't appear to be slowing down. (Jose Garcia photos/AZPreps365)

LIBERTY (13-1): "Luciana Del Carlo and Sofia Salvato are the hardest working players on the team, staying after practice and practicing on weekends. This is their 2nd season playing together. They understand the strategies/fundamentals of playing doubles, and they are great friends off the court. Our No. 1, Luciana, has a fantastic work ethic. She is very coachable, listens and learns and gives her best effort in practice and believes that how you practice is how you play. She actually understands the strategies of playing tennis versus just smacking the ball, and she is ultra-competitive. She hates to lose and is willing to chase down every shot. Melody Erickson (No. 2 singles) was my No. 1 singles player her freshman year. Even though Luciana has beaten her to be No. 1, during these past two seasons, Melody still practices and competes as if she's No. 1. She's also very coachable and takes the time to coach/help our up and coming JV players." —Coach John Hew.

NOGALES (7-6): "Danapaola Camacho and Esther Corella make a great duo on the tennis court, showing excellent teamwork and coordination as double partners. Together, they have the ability to anticipate each other's moves and communicate effectively, which allows them to execute strategies and cover each other's positions. With quick net plays and strategic serves, their synchronized efforts make them a great team together, not to mention their strong bond. They always keep a positive mindset on the courts. Danapaola excels as NHS No. 1 in the tennis team due to her exceptional skill, determination, strategic thinking, and ability to stay calm under pressure. Her dedication to improvement and her passion for the sport also contribute to her success." —Coach Santosh Kumar.

NORTHLAND PREP (8-0): "Even though Grace Kim and Grace Daab are freshmen and newcomers to our team, they've known each other for eight years and have been playing tennis together for almost as long. So with all that experience, you could consider them veterans. As for Grace Kim's success as our #1 singles player, she has a lot of natural talent but just as importantly a commitment to working hard to improve her skills in the game." —Coach Stan Palmer.

THE GREGORY SCHOOL (9-3): "Anacelia Moore and Ellie Sundt have partnered for their two years playing HS tennis. Ellie plays a consistent game and has a level head. Nothing flusters her. Our girls team is consistently recognized by our opponents as one of the nicest teams they play." —Coach Mark Swenson.

Hannah FitzGerald (right) and Chae Rin Youn are aiming to become Desert Mountain's fourth doubles Division I champs in the past six seasons. (Leighann FitzGerald photo)

SALPOINTE CATHOLIC (9-0): "Freshmen Lacey Kaufman and Emma Murphy have great chemistry along with mutual respect for each other. They have that enthusiasm for the game that cannot be taught. They also love competing. Lacey has worked hard on her game for several years. She knows how to focus and is a tough, shrewd competitor. She listens to advice and works hard mentally as well as physically in her matches. She loves representing Salpointe. Many of our players are freshmen this year and are happy, respectful young women who thoroughly enjoy working together, cheering for each other and representing Salpointe with kindness and grace. As a coach, I appreciate their physical acumen, but just as important as their talent is their character, kindness and respect for their opponent on the court." —Coach Theresa Spurduto.

MARANA (9-4): "Kayla Henson and Tori Boyack make a great doubles pair as they communicate well together and both focus on winning. They are great friends to boot. Kayla is a very determined young lady. She has a strong forehand and absolutely loves attacking the net. I am very fortunate as a coach to have an entire team, upper and lower levels combined, that are positive and encouraging to their teammates. It's so refreshing as a coach to have players wanting to come to practice and focus on having fun and improving." —Coach Loir Honea.

PARADISE VALLEY (12-0): "I anticipate Riddhi Motiwala and Aarohi Rawat doing very well if they are a seeded doubles team. They play well together and know each other off the tennis court as well. Both players have strong serves and excellent communication on the court. They play an aggressive doubles game. Aarohi has remained my number one player for two years because she is a poised tennis player. She does an excellent job of focusing on her game and not allowing outside distractions into her tennis game. She is a mature player and an important player on the team. We have an amazing varsity squad this year; none of which are seniors. So I anticipate another great season next year. The freshmen on the team, Riddhi and Aashvi Khandelwal, are a great addition this year. Reva Drewek is a consistent player who rarely drops a match. Both our 5 and 6 players (Jiya Shekar and Nikita Navin) are returning players who are fantastic team leaders." —Coach Cristal Murray.

SCOTTSDALE PREP (9-1): "Samantha Ferro and Nandini Patel are both seniors and have been at Scottsdale Prep together for the entirety of their high school tenure. They have also been doubles partners for several years. Their friendship extends to the court, making them a good team. They also have very different styles of play, as their respective strengths compliment each other on the court. Nandini's sheer will to win and her competitive nature push her to level up her game when there is added pressure. The harder the match, the better Nandini plays. She has been our number one player for four years running and has won the state singles championship three years in a row. She is undefeated in her singles matches throughout her high school career. Certainly, the Scottsdale Prep girls team benefits greatly from Nandini's USTA match experience and both of these dynamics have given Nandini the opportunity to play at the collegiate level next year. Coach Ashish Patel has added strength and conditioning to the practice regimen, which helps the players be not only a better tennis player but better athletes all around. This helps prevent injury, produces better agility on the court and as the weather warms up, the student athletes are better prepared."

SOUTH MOUNTAIN (11-3): "There are a few elements that help Ava Freeman and Aracely Arteaga Desiderio compete in doubles. Their personalities complement each other. Ava and Aracely enjoy playing doubles together. From the beginning of the season it was a good fit. Both know what the other expects of them. They maintain their academic performance and they can depend on each other on and off the court. They problem solve and strategize together. Both Ava and Aracely have been willing to work hard and to develop their serve as the season has progressed. Ava does not like to lose. When an opponent does something that catches Ava off guard, that is motivation for Ava to add that skill to her repertoire and arsenal of skills. Ava has an innate sense of a better-next-time mentality. Ava came to tennis just last year and gravitated to it nicely. Her knowledge and skill in volleyball has accelerated her competitive development in tennis. Our assistant coach, John Cano, has been instrumental in turning this program around. He works well with all skill levels and encourages the girls to challenge themselves and one another. He is a support and encourager to the coaching staff, parents and players. Every girl contributes to the success of our program. They have created a tennis sisterhood. They are competitive and push each other without alienating teammates. They celebrate the accomplishments and successes of one another." —Coach Paula Spratlen-Mitchell.

BOYS

ANTHEM PREP (8-0): “Kalum Fischer and Nick Van Cleve have great camaraderie between them along with a unique communication style. Two very different personalities have managed to sync quite nicely on the court. As for JP Young, he is a kid who strives for perfection and wants to please. He was heavily into tennis as a youngster but then pursued other sports. He decided to go back to tennis as a senior and has truly excelled as a player and a leader both on and off the court.”—Coach Walter Hurd.

BROPHY PREP (13-0): “I think there are a number of factors at play when Ken Akiyoshi and Ryan Zerbib are on the doubles court together. Chiefly, they have a synergy that cannot be taught or coached. I watched them absolutely dismantle some of the best #1 doubles teams at an invitational in Southern California. We spend a majority of our practices on doubles, where we work on strokes, tactics, strategy, and match management. Another factor that shouldn't be overlooked is that they complement each other very well. They are able to cover their court and give their opponents little room to hit into. Ryan is unflappable. Playing at the #1 position is difficult. Every school's best player is taking their best shot at our #1 guy a couple of times every week. I believe his steadiness, mentally and physically plays an integral part in his success. Ryan is a really good mover. He gets into and out of the corners really fast. His recovery from shot to shot is among the elite at his level. He has a high tennis IQ that complements his court skills. Shot selection, pattern and sequence contribute to Ryan's success. Those things only come from thousands of hours of training, so what you see from him are the dividends. Our program is a large, no-cut program that relies on many hands. My assistant, Ford Oliver, has a lifetime of playing and coaching experience and he has been a difference maker this season. Greg Abbott has helped the JV players grow over the season. As for our athletes, we are fortunate to have a large, deep roster. We have 18 varsity players, 13 JV players, and we had about 20 guys play in our developmental program called the Bronco League.”

CATALINA FOOTHILLS (10-1): “Austin Cohen and Jason Jia are the regular number one doubles team for us. What makes them good is the fact that they work harder than anybody else on our team all year. They both play in a lot of USTA tournaments throughout the year and are always ready for competition. Both of them have won state individual doubles titles, Austin with his brother in 2022 and Jason with one of our other players last year. They've been under pressure and know how to play under pressure. I might add that both of them are captains this year and provide great leadership by example for the rest of the team. Austin is practicing and competing in tennis year-round. He's played in big USTA tournaments successfully and knows how to play under pressure when the time is right. I would say what sets our program apart from some other teams is that we have great depth. We generally have between 25-30 players trying out each year, and the real strength in our team is in the lower flights, which have always been very instrumental in our success.”

CORONA DEL SOL (11-3): “Brandon Chaloupka and Gary Hoffland emerged as a doubles team during the 2022 season. Their game styles complement each other and their temperaments are good for each other. They have fun together but also hold high expectations for each other. Rehaan Mohammed is one of the hardest working tennis players that I have coached. He practices year-round for hours daily. He plays a lot of matches with a variety of different people, which gives him competition experience. The team has a great energy this year. They worked hard during the offseason and are seeing the rewards of their time and effort on the courts.”—Coach Andrea Niederkorn.

ESTRELLA FOOTHILLS (14-1): “Caden Gable and Porter Fackrell have known each other since they were little. Their families have been friends for years, vacationing and traveling together and hanging out on the weekends. They started tennis together years ago in our local youth sports program with their parents coaching them. After being friends and knowing each other for so many years, it's very exciting for them to be able to play doubles together now in high school. Porter has been super focused on improving his game recently, taking private lessons and playing in USTA tournaments regularly. Porter has always been a naturally athletic kid with a talent for learning quickly. He plays to win every point and focuses on himself rather than his opponent. We have a very strong tennis program at EFHS. We went to the state semifinals last year and the finals the year before. In the last four years we have had only one regular season loss. The team has a great culture of camaraderie, sportsmanship and excellent academic achievement. We could not be prouder of our players on and off the court. We also have an excellent assistant coach, Dave Koerner, who generously shares his time and talents to our team year after year. He is an excellent role model for the boys, teaching them integrity on the court and how to be an upstanding individual in the world. He spends countless hours drilling with and improving our players. He is an incredible asset to our team.”—Coach Devin Gable.

GILBERT CLASSICAL (7-2): “Aryan Patel and Mauricio Rubino have really challenged each other to maintain positive mindsets when going into doubles, letting go of any failures or frustrations that might have occurred during singles matches. They also insist on communicating with each other in play, creating and readjusting strategies throughout the match. Mauricio has a will unlike most teenagers I have ever taught or coached. This translates to school, music and sports. He spent countless hours in the offseason learning from our past #1 (Uday Brathwaite). He is very teachable. He also has an excellent grasp for the flow and momentum of the match and adjusts to it superbly. Very few players come to us classically trained (although we have had a few). Mauricio is a product of our courts. But his success demonstrates another unique quality of the team, genuine care and friendship. Players push themselves to improve individually on their own accord. We truly foster a culture of genuine friendship - no jealousies or bad blood in the least.”—Coach Jeremy Johnson.

THE GREGORY SCHOOL (10-1): “Our #1 doubles team is now Marcus Swenson and John Samii. They have gelled nicely as a freshman and sophomore. John's game is one of consistency with few errors. The opposition has to earn their points. Our team has no seniors.”—Coach Mark Swenson.

LIBERTY (12-2): “Matthew Tenn at #1 has been playing tennis since a young age. He is a student of the game and is big, strong and fast. He excels with his power and good foot speed. Parker Samuelian and Gavin Saulnier at No. 1 doubles have played the whole season together. They practice a lot together outside of school also. They are very good at using signs while their partner is serving so they move to create easy put away shots.”—Coach Mike Toth.

MARANA (10-3): “William Parry has been my mentally strongest player ever. He does not get flustered, panicky, over-excited, etc. He just plays the ball, regardless of the opponent or the score. He also has amazing natural timing and eyes. He never loses to players weaker than he is and often beats players who seem to have more complete and impressive games. I would compare him to Daniil Medvedev because, like Medvedev, William just keeps getting the ball back but also attacking when he can. William and Isaac Slivka have made a strong doubles team because they are both solid, consistent players who are quick to see and exploit opportunities at the net. They are also both very good at making their opponents hit one or two or three more shots to win a point. Neither of these guys likes to lose, but they do not take losing or winning too seriously. They practice hard, play hard, and love competing but to each of them, it is only a game. I am a blessed coach with outstanding young men on my team who happen to be pretty good tennis players. William Parry and Isaac Slivka are perfect representatives of our team.”—Coach Jamie Choffin.

NOTRE DAME (14-0): “James Gianakakos and Dean Lanford play with amazing communication and movement throughout each point and match they play together. Doubles is all about knowing what your partner is doing without you having to rely on paying attention, and they know each other very well on the court. The constant motivation to each other and encouragement has been key. Dean is an amazing player with non-stop fight and effort played in every point. He plays with a steady mindset and the willingness to push through every point until the match is finished. His ability to move past mistakes or unfortunate points and focus on the next plays a huge role. Finishing undefeated was a full team effort. Everyone is there for each other on every point and every match we’ve had up until now.”—Coach Trey Terry

PARADISE VALLEY (12-0): “This will be Nimith Guriajala’s third year making a run at the AZ doubles championship. Each year he has had a different partner and this year it will be Yash Totla. Nimith is our coach on the court and is patient with his partner while teaching them along the way. He takes the time before and after practice to talk about strategy, plays and pushing through adverse situations. Yash has been an excellent student by remaining humble and listening to and believing in Nimith as he helps him get better with every practice and match. Nimith is selfless with his time and efforts to make our team better. He is our team leader both on and off the court. He has every reason to walk around campus with his chest out or a chip on his shoulder, but he remains humble, which makes him great in so many ways. This is my 7th year coaching boys tennis at PV and my 27th year as a HS coach (football, softball, basketball, track, golf, tennis). I am blessed with having really great kids, with really great parents, which makes the rest of the job that much easier. I am doubly blessed to have the best assistant coach in the Valley. Scott Tomooka has volunteered his time with PV tennis (and PV girls golf) for the last seven seasons, never asking for anything in return. In reality, instead of asking, he’s been a giver. He is the most generous person I have ever met in my entire 55 years of life. We don’t get country club kids or privileged kids. We are Paradise Valley in name only. Our CREST (Center for Research Engineering and Technology) program was established about 10 years ago and we began to attract a higher level of students that are driven to excel academically. All of my current players are CREST students.”—Coach Jim Libretti.

SAHUARITA (11-2): “I like the combination of power and control from Andrew Ryan and Jacob Walton. Andrew can find confidence in Jacob’s game and loosen up to make some great shots. Their attitudes compliment each other, and Andrew can have a senior mentor and guide a junior for what is to come next year. Jacob is a very humble player and good listener. He also plays in the USTA circuit, which helps develop overall confidence and game development.”—Coach Chris Hernandez.

SCOTTSDALE PREP (8-2): “Seth Puhala and Ben Sanov have a very complimentary style of play when paired together for doubles. They are both very aggressive with the ball and like to go after the winner versus sitting back to let the other players make a mistake. They are good at elevating each other’s game. Seth is in fact my son. As a senior this year and first year as the #1 slot, he knew he would be faced with more challenges than years past and this has proven true at the No. 1 position. When Seth finds his rhythm, he can get into the zone and play very competitive tennis. He’s not a passive player at all. He likes to play power tennis. He has an even temperament on the court, so he’s not easily rattled.”—Coach Michael Puhala.

TANQUE VERDE (9-3): “Joe Hetland is the senior member of the team, and he has been playing on the team for four years. For whatever reason, he enjoys playing with Karl Gajda. He seems to think he plays better with Karl. As the team’s first year coach I’ve tried my best to honor his wishes. Joel, I believe, has improved tremendously during the course of the season. His match tactics have improved throughout the course of the year. He is very helpful towards the rest of his less talented teammates.”—Coach Lamine Bangoura.

THATCHER (13-0): “Gene Huish and Braden Huish are brothers. This is the first time I have ever had siblings playing as double partners. Gene’s doubles partner last year, and who we expected him to play doubles with, had a serious knee injury during soccer and is out for the season. Early on, it was a little rough with chemistry with the two. So much so I asked Gene, the older brother, if he was going to be OK playing with his little brother. He said, “I’m not sure high school Gene is OK with it, but grown up Gene will be happy that he did.” The more they have played together the better they have gotten. They are both happy about the decision now and have flourished. They played extremely well against high level opponents at the Hamilton Tournament and have been undefeated thus far in the regular season. Gene is our most gifted athlete on the team. He is a three sport athlete that excels in cross country and soccer. He took some losses from his teammates earlier on as he transitioned from soccer to tennis. I believe his level of play continues to go up each week. His mental toughness is outstanding in part due to him playing other sports. Our team is a little unique, being a rural team and not composed of academy/USTA players. The players play each other all year in the offseason, attend our summer tennis camp, play Jr. Team Tennis in Tucson together, and play in a “Has Been Tournament,” where our older players come back and play against our current players. We have tried to make a program that older players still feel connected to the program. We routinely have older players send inspirational messages to current players. When they are in town, they will contact younger players to play, and we have older players help mentor younger players in the junior high and elementary school.”—Coach Chris Hook.

VERRADO (12-1): “Dallas LeNguyen and Jayden Taut have excelled and improved in doubles by really communicating well. They do a great job of feeding off of each other’s strengths. In order to be #1 on our team this year, Jayden has improved his service game. He has put in countless hours working on his toss and accelerating through the swing. Verrado tennis is young, with only one senior. We had a couple other sports injuries with players that kept them sidelined this year. All of our student-athletes either play other sports or are highly involved in other extra-curricular activities. We have club soccer players, a football player, a basketball player, an Eagle Scout, a film production participant and more as part of our team. The team hangs out on and off the court, which makes for great team camaraderie. One of their favorite things to do is go out to eat after our away matches.”—Coach Don Duplain.

OFFICIALS: ESSENTIAL MEMBERS OF EVERY STARTING LINEUP

Without officials, today's event would not be possible. They deserve thanks and appreciation for dedicating their nights and weekends, so our students can always play the sports they love.
